

The image displays a Bissell Big Green Pro 2000 steam mop system against a plain white background. The central unit is a compact, rounded rectangular shape in a light teal color with white accents. It features a top handle, a control panel with several buttons and a dial, and a large circular filter or vent on the side. A long, silver-colored telescopic tube extends from the front of the unit, ending in a black rectangular floor headplate. To the left of the main unit, a coiled grey power cord is visible. In the foreground, there are eight additional accessories: two large black crevice tools with angled heads, one small white crevice tool, three smaller black crevice tools of different shapes, a black cylindrical brush attachment, a black flexible extension wand, and a black power plug connected by a short grey cable. On the far right, a small white box of Bissell Big Green maintenance solution is shown, featuring the brand name and product details in multiple languages.
